

Look! Will you please roll down the window? I know what you're doing here! We have something to talk about. Good! Thank you.

Now I've seen you with notebook and that nifty telephoto camera--wanna ask you about that beauty. Anyway we're both in the same buisness. I won't tell you which of the two I'm surveiling, and expect the same of you.

What you might want to know, in addition, is that two other shamuses are on the case and might be in other parked cars. That diaper van's suspicious to say the least. Anyway, one's even an industrial espionage guy!

Cna't be after him making the romantic toast over there. Though slick as owlshit, he's just another horny dentist. And candlelight doesn't flatter him! On the other hand, She works for GE and could reveal some revolutionary ice shaving design at climax.

And there's a woman! Almost forgot.
I don't know WHO she's watching. Well...
yes I do, and don't have to keep the confidence.
She blabs at bars. The mistress employed her.

Not the one in our field of view, but another.
Romeo is cheating on the mistresses too.
So what else is new?

There could also be a lesbian triangle--stop me if I'm boring you. Both mistresses know each other and have been observed at faggot watering holes.
Well that's a...brace. Just two, as far as I know.
Bisexual triangle. Plenty of those. But, i'm stopping.
Getting dizzy. Whew!

To the present! Both mates out of town, in a fortunate convergance of the stars, and our couple will snuggle under the same comforter tonight. And shake the condo's very walls with prodigious fucking. The Painter of Light might just fall down.

Anyway, I have a proposition.
I'll have one of my young squirts watch the apartment while the mortar grinds between the brincks, and'd like us to meet at Leaky Larry's down at the river. Listen! Thirty years in this business has given me a dirty mind--excuse all the past vocabulary--though I had a head start I'm sure, what with the semoinary, army, and the police force.

The sem is not a joke. In the itnerst of full disclosure!

I'll get the others there too, got cell numbers,
and let's work out a schedule that's more efficient. May be impossible since one of us could slant any report to our individual client.
But we could keep it to two operatives at any one time, each representing one of the parties. That may not work either. Where would we put the industrial espionage guy? He's not interested in screwing around, except corporate.

Well, let's talk about it, and around it, and not reveal what we shouldn't, and at the end of the night, reading between th lines,I bet we can agree on a labor saving schedule.

Nice to have seen you up close.
I think we're involved in a record here. Two cheaters and five watchers! At any rate,
my treat tonight at Larry's.